Pure titanium sheets for architecture at 'Schweizer Baumuster-Centrale Zurich'

The 'Schweizer Baumuster-Centrale Zürich' (SBCZ) regularly organises exhibitions on specific topics in the building industry. With the theme "Reactions to Metal", the exhibition provides an overview of the surface treatment of various metals as they are used in art, design and architecture.

Signer Titanium AG exhibits pure titanium sheets in various colours and with different surface structures for the building industry. We also brought our façade mock-up to the exhibition.

Pure titanium sheets are characterised by their excellent corrosion resistance and although they are available in various colours, they do not have a colour coating. The colours are created by a wafer-thin oxide layer by means of light interference. The wash-off rate of pure titanium is virtually unmeasurable and therefore the sheets are environmentally friendly, sustainable and very durable.

Visit the exhibition in Zurich until 2 July 2021. Admission is free of charge. We are happy to meet interested architects and builders on site to provide an in-depth insight into the outstanding properties.
